Everyone is permitted to copy and distribute verbatim copies of this license document, but changing it is not allowed.

You may copy and distribute the Document in any medium, either commercially or noncommercially, provided that this License, the copyright notices, and the license notice saying this License applies to the Document are reproduced in all copies. You may not use technical measures to obstruct or control the reading or use of the Document. You may not use technical measures to obstruct or control the reading or use of copies you make or distribute. However, you may accept compensation in exchange for copies. If you distribute a large number of copies you must also follow the conditions in section 3.

3. COPYING IN QUANTITY

1. APPLICABILITY AND DEFINITIONS

That this License applies to the Document. These Warranty Disclaimers are considered to be included by reference in this License, but only as regards disclaiming warranties; any other implication that these Warranty Disclaimers have is void and has no effect on the meaning of this License.

It is requested, but not required, that you contact the authors of the Document well before redistributing any large number of copies, to give them a chance to provide you with an updated version of the Document.

You may make a collection consisting of the Document and other documents released under this License, and replace the individual copies of this License in each document with a single copy that is included in the collection, provided that you follow the rules of this License for verbatim copying of each of the documents in all other respects.

A compilation of the Document or its derivatives with other separate and independent documents or works, in or on a volume or a storage or distribution medium, is called an "aggregate" if copyright clearance for the compilation is obtained from Copyright Clearance Center, Inc., 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, MA 01923. Works that are already in the public domain may be included in an aggregate. This License does not apply to other works in the aggregate which are themselves derivative works of the Document.

10. If the Document is placed in a document collection or archive, it must be replicated in that collection or archive in the same form and format as the original work. Reproduction or distribution in other forms or formats is allowed by anyone holding a document that has been replicated in the collection or archive, but only if the Document is also available in the same form and format as the original work. Collections or archives that replicate the Document must also replicate all covers that bracket the Document. Covers that bracket the Document must be placed on covers that bracket the aggregate, and the electronic equivalent of covers if the Document is in electronic form. Where a cover or covers for a particular Document are placed on covers that bracket the aggregate, the covers must also appear on printed covers of the aggregate.

Translation is considered a kind of modification, so you may distribute translated versions of the Document under the terms of section 4. Replacing Invariant Sections with translations requires special permission from their copyright holders, but you may include a translation of any section if you include the original version of that section in the document, and you license the translation under the same license as the original version of that section. You may include a translation of any section if you include the original version of that section in the document, and you license the translation under the same license as the original version of that section. You may include a translation of any section if you include the original version of that section in the document, and you license the translation under the same license as the original version of that section.

However, if you cause all violation of this License, then your license from a particular copyright holder is reinstated (a) provisionally, unless and until the copyright holder explicitly and finally terminates your license, and (b) permanently, if the copyright holder fails to notify you of the violation by some reasonable means (within the 90 day period described in paragraph 3) of the violation by some reasonable means.

The Free Software Foundation may publish new, revised versions of the GNU Free Documentation License from time to time. Such new versions will be similar in spirit to the present version, but may differ in detail to address new problems or concerns. See <http://www.gnu.org/copyleft/>.

"Massive Multiauthor Collaboration Site" or "MMC Site") means any World Wide Web server that publishes copyrightable works and also provides prominent facilities for anybody to edit those works. A public wiki that anybody can edit is an example of such a server. A Massive Multiauthor Collaboration ("MMC") site, as defined in this site means any set of copyrightable works thus published on the MMC site.

"CC-BY-SA" means the Creative Commons Attribution-Share Alike 3.0 license published by Creative Commons Corporation, a not-for-profit corporation with a principal place of business in San Francisco, California, as well as future compatible versions of that license published by the same organization.

"Document" means any work thus published on the MMC site, in part, or in part, or part of that Document.

To use this License in a document you have written, include a copy of the License in the document and put the following copyright and license notices just after the title page:

If you have Invariant Sections, Front-Cover Texts and Back-Cover Texts, replace the "with ... Texts." line with this:

with the Invariant Sections being LIST THEIR TITLES, with the Front-Cover Texts being LIST, and with the Back-Cover Texts being LIST.

If you have Invariant Sections without Cover Texts, or some other combination of the three, merge those two alternatives to suit the situation.

If your document contains nontrivial examples of program code, we recommend releasing these examples in parallel under your choice of free software license, such as the GNU General Public License, to permit their use in free software.
